Sydney Mason is the director of the Township Library of Lower Southampton in Feasterville. Sydney started in this position in October 2022 after nearly a decade of experience in a variety of public, school, and college libraries. In her prior career, Sydney was a lawyer and a legal researcher. It was the year she spent as a homeschooling parent that inspired her to make the move from the law to libraries. Sydney holds an M.L.I.S. from Rutgers University and a J.D. from the University of Pennsylvania. She is a native Bucks County resident: she currently lives in Langhorne Borough, and spent her childhood in Lumberville, PA.
